A DISGRACEFUL AFFAIR

Wild Ride of Four Williamsport Young Men.

THEY NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH

With Their Brains Crazed by Liquor, Four Young Men Attempt to Drive to Bellefonte and Meet With an Awful Accident on the Way.

A frightful accident occurred late Sunday night on the road near Jacksonville, the particulars of which reached this city on Monday.

It seems that four men whose names could not be learned, drove up from Williamsport on Sunday and were in the neighborhood of Jacksonville about midnight on their way to Bellefonte. They evidently had imbibed a little too much red-eye on the way and as they drove along at a break neck speed they made the night hideous with their wild yelling. As they passed different farm houses they would hurl all sorts of epithets at the people along the way who were so rudely awakened by the disturbers of the peace. The occupants of the rig must have been regular brutes, as they lashed the horses in a terrible manner, and although the carriage rocked this way and that, threatening to upset every moment, it didn't seem to worry the drunken wretches in the least. But their wild ride had an ending which might have caused the death of the whole four men. As it was they were all badly shaken up besides having a wrecked carriage and a team of cut up horses to take care of.

Just as the horses were tearing along at a gallop, urged on all the time by the lash of the whip, one of the wheels on the carriage came off, and the result was that in an instant the occupants were flying in all directions in the road. The carriage was dragged along for some distance when one of the horses stumbled and fell, bringing the other horse down with it. The harness was so badly tangled up that the horses were unable to get up and the excursionists, who had alighted from the rig so suddenly, had time to get up to the horses before any further damage was wrought. The serious condition of affairs had the effect of partly sobering the young men up and they at once commenced to patch up the carriage enough to get back home. It was indeed a sorry looking crowd. The men were scratched up from head to foot and their clothes were torn into shreds. The carriage looked like the tail end of a clothes basket that had passed through a cyclone. The sabbath breakers started on their journey home. They evidently had seen enough of Bellefonte and were content to take the rest for granted. They were very carefnl not to divulge their names to the farmers along the road. It should be a dear lesson to them and it is to be hoped it will never occur again.

Authorized to Confer Degrees.

Harrisburg, March 30.—The Divinity school of the Protestant Episcopal church of Philadelphia, was authorized by the State University and College Council today, to confer degrees. Attorney General McCormick gave the Council an opinion, in which he decides that the following institutions, mentioned in a communication of the Council to his department, have the right to confer degrees: Juniata college, at Huntingdon; Geneva college, Beaver county; Bryn Mawr college; Temple college, Philadelphia; Grove City College for Women, Allegheny county, and Susquehanna university, Selinsgrove. He takes the position that institutions chartered by the courts under the act of 1874 have the right to confer degrees and that the act of June 26, 1895, does not affect them. The same opinion holds with respect to those incorporated prior to 1874.

A Marriage of Twins.

Wooster, O., March 30.—One of the notable events in the way of marriages took place at Harrisville township, Medina county, last evening. The remarkable feature was that the grooms are Wayne county twins and the brides Medina county twins.

The couples are Vernon R. Stair and Irene V. Repp, and Vertal H. Stair and Idena V. Repp. The ceremony took place at the residence of the brides' mother, Rev. N. Lewis, of Burbank, officiating.

Have Bought the Site.

Beaver Falls, March 30.—There was a transaction to-day which shows that the promoters of the Masonic university scheme mean business. The morrow farm a tract of land on the hill back of Beaver, comprising 42 acres, was bought and paid for, and just before the closing of the office of the register and recorder at Beaver this evening the deeds transferring the property were placed on record. The price paid was $12,000.

A NEW RAILROAD.

A Line to Run Straight Across the State Connecting the East and West.

[From the Pittsburg Post of March 27.]

Philadelphia.—Upon the theory that the Drexels, of Philadelphia, have fallen out with the Pennsylvania Railroad management so seriously as to warrant them in backing a formidable rival to the Pennsylvania across the State, a big new trunk line project is announced. It is for a line about midway between the Pennsylvania and the Philadelphia & Erie, and directly across the State, which has been talked about for years. So far has the matter proceeded that a meeting will be held in this city next Tuesday to organize a construction company, and early in April work will be begun on two portions of the line, from Philipsburg to Bellefonte, and from Lamar, in Clinton county, to Watsontown, on the Susquehanna river. The new road will connect with the Reading system, already controlled by Pierpont Morgan, at White Deer, Union county, will bridge the Susquehanna at Watsontown, will build a new link between Bellefonte and Philipsburg, and use the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania as far as Lamar.

West of Philipsburg the road will be built to Clearfield, there to connect with the Clearfield & Mahoning railroad to DuBois, and from there by original surveys west through Clearfield, Jefferson, Clarion, Venango, Mercer and Crawford counties, entering Ohio through Ashtabulah county, and thence direct to Cleveland.

FINAL SURVEYS COMPLETED.

Final surveys are said to have been completed on the links between Philipsburg and Bellefonte, and Lamar and Watsontown. There will be no heavy grades, nor sharp curves, and but one tunnel on the line in getting over the Allegheny. The line selected will be 60 miles shorter than the present route to Cleveland, and 120 miles shorter than the New York Central. It will traverse a country rich in coal and lumber, which will give it a heavy freight tonnage. The project also includes a branch line from some point in Venango county to Pittsburg.

A dispatch from Philipsburg gives the following additional facts, obtained from a capitalist in that town who is financially interested in the project:

Early in the winter a charter was granted at the State Department at Harrisburg to the Bellefonte & Philipsburg Railroad Company, for a road 32 miles in length, connecting the two towns by the shortest possible route. The charter named as directors Charles Wilhelm, of Reading; A. W. Hoyt, of this place, and L. T. Munson. J. H. Walsh and James Harris, of Bellefonte. But the fact was not disclosed until recently that the movement was being backed by Drexel & Co., and various other moneyed men of Philadelphia.

THE BELLEFONTE LINK

The line from Bellefonte to Philipsburg, however, is but a link in the trunk line. At Bellefonte connection will be made with the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania as far as Lamar, Clinton county; from there another link will be built through Sugar and White Deer valleys, a distance of 50 miles to Watsontown, where connection will be made with the Wilkesbarre & Eastern, thence by that line and the Central Railroad of New Jersey to New York and eastern points. West of here the road will be built to Clearfield, there to connect with the Clearfield & Mahoning to DuBois, and from there by original surveys west through the counties named above, entering Ohio in Ashtabula county, and thence direct to Cleveland.

The men interested in the new line are almost, without exception, antagonistic to or at least not directly interested in, any of the present trunk lines. Arrangements have already been made to begin work on the two parts of the road—from here to Bellefonte, and from Lamar to Watsontown, very early in April. The final surveys are about completed on both links, and the projectors intend pushing the work so that the line will be opened between New York and this city within a year.

HENRY CLAY'S WAR ROUTE.

The line is located almost directly on the route of the old war road projected and accepted by Henry Clay, away back in the early part of the century as the best way to go from Washington to the lakes in the transportation of supplies. In addition to its shorter distance and lesser grades, which will give it considerable advantage over the lines now operated, there is not another line in existence that has on it the rich freightage that will be tapped by this projected road. From the anthracite coal fields in the eastern part of the State, it enters into the bituminous belt, running right through the heart of it, and thence through about the only heavy timber lands yet remaining in the State, and through which there is at present no railroad. This will give it an unusually heavy tonage from the very day of its opening.

As planned now the line will include a branch to be built from some point in Venango county to Pittsburg, a distance of 80 miles. Though at first this might seem as if it would avail little for the western city, yet the distance between New York and Pittsburg over this route would be just 20 miles shorter than by the present way of the Pennsylvania.

Both the Pennsylvania and New York Central officials have done everything possible to block the new project, but they have been checkmated at every move. The man who is most actively engaged in pushing the work is J. Wesley Gephart, the present General Superintendent of the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania.

A HOUSE BURNED TO ASHES

FAMILY NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH

A Little Child Discovers The Flames at Midnight And Gives The Alarm And Saves The Lives of Five People.

Fire broke out in the residence of Samuel Fisher on Half Moon Hill about 12.35 o'clock this morning and before help could arrive the entire house and contents were in ashes. The alarm was not sounded and but few knew anything about the conflagration until late to-day.

Mr. Fisher's story is that he and his family retired for the night about 10 o'clock. About 12.30 he was awakened by one of his little children who was disturbed by the smoke. He quickly roused the rest of the family and it was with great difficulty that they were able to get out of the house as the flames had already made much progress. After getting his wife and five children out of danger he tried to save some of the furniture but beyond a few chairs everything was burned. The fire originated from a defective flue and gained considerable headway before it was discovered.

The loss will amount to something like $1,000. Mr. Fisher only had about $400 insurance on his property consequently his loss is considerable. It was a very narrow escape for Mr. Fisher and his family and had not one of the little children got awake when it did they all might have been burned to death.

Shaffer on Trial for His Life.

Wilkesbarre, March 31.—Frank Shaffer, the notorious negro, and one of the gang who is accused of the Mountain cut-off murder in October, 1894, by which four Hungarians were killed, was placed on trial for his life to-day. The twelfth juror was drawn at a late hour this afternoon. The case will be a sensational one.

For Their Relief.

By the resent explosion in the Berwind-White shaft near DuBois, twelve women were made widows and thirty seven children were deprived of fathers. The Express of DuBois says that seveaal movements are on foot looking in the relief of these unfortunates, as many of the children are very young and several of the widows are in delicate condition.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Daniel Gonn Seeks a Watery Grave This Afternoon.

Monday afternoon about 2.30 o'clock a woman in Castanea saw a man take off his coat and vest on the Lock Haven side of Bald Eagle creek, a short distance below the bridge and then wade into the stream and disappear. She at once spread the news and a number of men ran to where he was last seen. They found a sealed letter on the bank with the coat, which was addressed to Hugh McLeod, on the face of which was "May God have mercy on my soul" and "Take this back." While the men began dragging the creek for the body Mr. McLeod was sent for. The man is believed to be Daniel Gonn, who has been boarding with Mr. McLeod. —Lock Haven Democrat.

Of Importance to Everybody.

The management of the Bellefonte Academy takes great pleasure in announcing that its corps of teachers will remain unchanged for another year. The faculty for the year 1896-1897 will, therefore, consist of Rev. J. P. Hughes, principal, J. R. Hughes, associate principal, Miss J. L. Reed, Miss Helen E. Overton and Mr. F. P. Bassett. With such a corps of teachers thoroughly efficient in their respective departments, the Academy affords advantages that cannot be surpassed in any preparatory schools. The Spring term opens on Monday April 13. Teachers whose schools are closing at this time, who wish to continue their preparatory work will do well to take the last quarter of ten weeks at the Academy. Pupils also in Bellefonte or vicinity contemplating attending school next year would find it greatly to their advantage to avail themselves of the start the spring term would give them.

The exceptionally superior work done this year in the primary and intermediate departments under the care of Miss Helen Overton is generally known and has rallied to her support many delightful patrons. It will be well therefore, in view of the prospectively large increase next year in this department for parents to engage seats early. Pupils are received at six years of age and given the most careful and thorough individual attention by one who has made the teaching of children a special study.

CRUSHED IN A MINE.

Clark Ingram Meets With a Serious Accident at Benore on Tuesday.

Clark Ingram, an employe at the mines of Carnegie & Co., at Benore, met with a serious accident on Tuesday evening as a result of which he may lose his life. Ingram, it seems, was working in the ore mines when the earth which had softened by the frost coming out, suddenly caved in covering up the unfortunate man and seriously injuring him. Help soon arrived and Ingram was taken out more dead than alive. His injuries were dressed and everything possible was done to make him comfortable. His injuries are such that his recovery is doubtful. Ingram is about 45 years old and has a wife and four children.

Two Fires in Philadelphia.

The loss here was $50,000: partially insured. The other damaged the plaining mill of Fite-Ardello company, at Twentieth street and Glenwood Aveune. The loss on this fire was $12,000 fully insured.

Gold Horseshoes in Olden Times

Roman writers inform us that Commodus caused the hoofs of his horses to be covered with gold leaf and even the fetlocks to be gilded. Nero's short journey were invariable performed on white mules wearing gold shoes on there fore feet and silver behind. The beast which drew the chariots of his wife, Poppae, were shod all around with gold. Several others among the dignitaries and potentates of the riotous days of the Romans empire shod their horses with gold and used the same material for bridle bits buckles, spurs, etc.

BEAVER FAVORS QUAY

Says The Junior Senator Is Pennsylvania's Choice.

TERMS HIM A WONDERFUL MAN

Interviewed in New York The Ex-Governor Speaks Freely on Presidential Possibilities —McKinley a Second Choice.

New York, March 31.—Judge James A. Beaver, of Pennsylvania, the former governor of that state, was at the Hotel Brunswick to-day. When asked about presidential possibilities in his state, he said the Republicans are for Senator Quay and will support him heartily.

"As a judge," he said, "I have no inclination and no time to indulge in political discussions. Senator Quay is a very much misunderstood man. It is generally supposed that he is merely a political organizer and manipulator and cares for nothing else. On the contrary, he is a man of refinement, and is fond of literature and books.

"He is a clear and cogent writer, having once been the editor of a newspaper True, he is not a great orator, but on any subject that he discusses he shows an intimate knowledge that interests and convinces."

When asked about Senator Cameron and his silver views, Judge Beaver said: "Well he is thoroughly honest in his convictions. He thinks that if the western men stand up for protection we should be friendly to silver."

As to the second choice for president in his state, Judge Beaver said that along the Ohio border the people are for McKinley. Many conservative Republicans are for Allison and Speaker Reed also has followers.

"Governor Morton is liked everywhere. We all know that he is a level-headed, splendid man in every way."

Housekeeping Hints.

Do not put a coat or dress away with dust in the folds or pleats. Shake the garment well and brush with a soft whisk broom, for dust is never so easily removed as at first.

Keep a boal of oatmeal on the washstand, and after washing the hands dry them in the meal. The skin will be kept white and smoth and less liable to chap by this process.

If an iron holder is attached with a long string to the band of the apron while you are cooking it will save many burnt fingers and scorched dish towls.

Kerosene oil is the best of furniture polishes. It cleanses, makes a fine polish, and preserve from the raving of insects.

We congratulate Editor Jones on his success so far and heartily wish him all the prosperity possible during the coming year.

Fire at a Stock Farm.

Corry, Pa., March 30.—Lyman D. Raymond's stock farm, situated about three miles east of this city, suffered severe loss by fire yesterday. Large barns were burned, together with eight head of Jersey cattle, two horses and a number of sheep. Total loss, $2,000; insurance, $300.

WELCOMED BALLINGTON BOOTH

An Overflow Meeting in the Academy of Music in Philadelphia.

Philadelpuia, March 30.—An audience that filled the Academy of Music to overflowing welcomed Ballington Booth and his wife to-night at the first meeting held in this city of the American Volunteers. Many of the best people, socially, in the city were present and they expressed their sympathy with the movement in every way possible. The Booths made very little reference to their trouble with the Salvation Army. Mr. Booth did say that he received but two orders from London, both of which he had obeyed, although he had been accused of disobdience. One of these orders was to resign his command and a second followed almost immediately peremptorily directing him to give up his command by 10 o'clock the next day. He also stated that he had been forcibly ejected from Salvation Army headquarters. Mrs. Booth said they had letters which would fully exonerate them, but they were too busy with the work that lay to their hands to further continue the controversy. Quite a substantial sum was realized from the collection that was taken up, and the Defenders' League, the organization similar to the auxiliury of the Salvation Army, was organized with 200 names on the roll at $5 a name.

Langdon's Trouble Multiply.

Philadelphia, March 30.—Pending the solution of Annie McGrath's death, Samuel P. Longdon's business troubles are multiplying. To-day in the chancery court of New Jersey, R. O. Rabbett renewed his motion for a receiver for the Wington-Langdon Coal company, a corporation doing business in New York, although incorporated under the laws of New Jersey Vice Chancellor Pitney granted the motion and appointed Geo. W. Jenkins, of Morristown, receiver.

The Wington-Langdon Coal company was incorporated with a capital of $120,000 last August, for the purpose of buying and selling coal for steamships in the harbor of New York. The incorporators were W. H. Wington, S. P. Langdon and an individual named Brown, and the offices of the company were located in New York. Messrs. Peacock, Peal and Kerr, of Pennsylvania, sold them $1,048 worth of coal and there were other creditors, all of whom sold coal to the new company. Contracts were begun with several steamship companies and a rushing business was in progress. When the creditors began to press for payment excuses were sent instead of checks. Mr. Babbett insisted that the company was insolvent and added that S. P. Langdon has control of books and denies access to them by the creditors.

New Church Dedicated.

Derry, Pa., March 30.—The handsome new Presbyterian church was dedicated yesterday, or rather this was the big day on the program of dedication which was commenced last week. An unusual crowd of people gathered early this morning and the handsome Temple of God was taxed to its utmost to accommodate all who sought admission.

The dedicatory services were as follows: Organ voluntary, Gloria Patria, congregation; hymn, congregation; prayer of invocation; anthem, choir; responsive Scripture reading, pastor and congregation; Scripture lesson; hymn, congregation; dedicatory sermon, Rev. David S. Kennedy, D. D., of Allegheny. "Te-Deum," pastor and congregation; the Doxology; dedicatory scripture, pastor; dedication; dedicatory prayer, pastor; offering formal transferring of keys; dedicatory prayer, pastor; hymn, congregation, benediction.

In the afternoon the Sunday school jubilee service which was very elaborate and extremely beautiful, took up the hours from three to six p. m., and was followed by the Christian Endeavor service which was very entertaining and well carried out. At 7.30 the platform meeting was held and again the church was crowded to overflowing. The sermon was preached by Rev. Isaac C. Ketler, Ph. D., president City college.

For Comrades.

A photograph of Hon. I. N. Walker, commander in chief of the G. A. R. has been sent to this office. Many old soldiers hereabouts know something about the "old guard" and perhaps would like to have a photo of the commander. If so, they can procure copies of the same by sending their names and addresses to F. H. Lord, general passenger and ticket agent of the Chicago Great Western railway. The railroad company recently gave formal notice that it would sell tickets to the conventions to be held in St. Paul, Minn., at the rate of one cent a mile, such tickets to be good for return passage for thirty days.

COUNTERFEITERS SENTENCED.

Many Western Pennsylvania Prisoners Given Salty Doses.

Scranton, Pa., March 27.—The session of the United States District Court for Scranton closed to-day, and sentences were pronounced this afternoon. Among the counterfeiters sentenced was John W. Henderson of McKean county, who was given four years in the Western Penitentiary for making spurious coin. This is his third sentence for this offense, as he has been a coiner since 1879, Pittsburgh being several times flooded with the "queer" of his make. He has been a very sly customer, and when closely pressed has always hid among the lumber camps in the Western part of the state. The sentences were as follows: Harry H. Homan, for abstracting letters from the Monongahela post office, one year in the Allegheny county jail; Orr McCumber, for robbing an Erie county post office, thirteen months in the penitentiary; Nelson Wiltraut, for robbing the post office at Wooddale, Fayette county, two years in the penitentiary; Geo. Murray and Geo. Brady, for robbing the post office at Titusville, Murray three years and six months and Brady four years in the penitentiary; S. M. Welsh and William C. Pike of Lawrence county, found with spurious coin in their possession, the former two years and six months and the latter three years and six months in the penitentiary; A. D. Anderson of Elk county, who took letters from the post office containing checks, two years in the penitentiary; Thomas Jufoski, six years; Joseph Zanovuez, four years; Joseph Valtuln, four years, and George Goodman, thirteen months, all of Pittsburgh, and convicted for making counterfeit coins.

Posted Their Names.

New Castle, Pa., March 27.—The furnishing to the bartenders of this city a list of the graduates of Keeley institutes with instructions not to sell them any liquor has aroused a storm of indignation among men whose names have been thus handed in. These lists in some cases have been hung up in saloons and this is what makes the matter worse. The list was furnished saloonkeepers by the county detective, who says he did so after a consultation with Judge Wallace. Some of the Keely graduates claim that there is no authority of law for such action. It is denounced as an injury to and a slur upon those who have honestly reformed, and they will push the matter until the names of those who do not drink are removed from the bar rooms. It is claimed that Judge Wallace only intended the use of the names of Keeleyites who had relapsed, but not those who did not drink.

Fire at Milton.

At Milton yesterday morning fire broke out in a slaughter house owned by W. H. Hower, and owing to all the plugs being closed by reason of the controversy between the water company and the council, the flames spread, there being only one stream from a small hydrant which could be used by the fireman. The following buildings were destroyed; W. H. Hower's slaughter house and implements wareroom, $1,500 no insurance; William Balliet, who occupied the building, lost three horses, a steer and some tools, loss about $500, no insurance; Henry Kissinger, dwelling house, $750, insurance, $500; J. C. Stratton, $300, no insurance, Mrs. Kate Reppert, double frame dwelling house and household effects, insurance on house, $1,000; on furniture $100; Mrs. Wohlhelter, $200 small insurance. The fire was of incendiary origin.

Big Chunk Girl.

We thought we had some heavy weight girls in Penn's Valley—great arms full—but over in Mifflin county they have a chunk acoming that will take the cake. She is Edith Spigelmoyer, 6 years and 9½ months old, and lives with her parents on what is known as the Carr property, along Honey creek, (she can't help but be a honey), and weighs 106 pounds, is 4 feet 2½ inches high, with a waist measure of 31½ inches.—Reporter.

—Escaping oil from a chandelier started a fire in the New Bloomfield Lutheran church Sunday evening March 22. The damage was slight.

SADDENED SCENES.

Funerals of the DuBois Mine Disaster Yesterday.

DuBois, Pa., March 26.—The funerals of eight of the victims of Monday's mine disaster took place here to-day. The stores were all closed, and business was suspended. Requiem mass for James Graham and James Graham, Jr., was said at St. Catharine's church by Rev. Father McGrivney, and they were interred side by side in the Catholic cemetery. Services for Henry and George Harvey, Reuben Noble and Henry Smith were conducted in the Methodist Episcopal church this morning at 10.30 by Revs. S. Barders, Leichleiter, Bird, Bell and Rich. All but the space reserved for the mourners was filled before the service opened. Knights of the Golden Eagle were pall-bearers, two local lodges and delegations from others attending. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey of Houtzdale, aged over 70, followed their two sons and two sons-in-law to the grave, and all four were buried in one grave in the Rumbarger cemetery. The funerals of George Ainsley and David Bell were held in the Methodist church this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock by Revs. Rich and Bell. George Ainsley was a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle and of the police patrol. Two lodges and five fire companies attended. George Postlethwaite was buried at Falls Creek, and Lindsey Bradley at Flushing, O., to-day; John Monroe and Jesse Postlethwaite were buried at Redfern yesterday. Andrew Nowak was buried from St. Joseph's Polish church yesterday and interred in the Catholic cemetery.

Novel School Closing.

Uniontown, Pa., March 26.—The Dunkards, Mennonities and German Lusherans, who make up the population of the High House school district, are shocked beyond description at the closing exercises of their school the other day.

A new teacher was in charge the recent term and when the last day arrived gave the young folks a different kind of program. When the recitations, declamations, dialogues, tableaux and songs had been presented the benches were removed and a regular old-time country dance indulged in by all the young people present.

As dancing is ranked with poker playing inthis community, the parents generally are much incensed and threatened all kinds of punishment to the guilty participants in the sacrilegious proceedings. Everypody is talking, and the new method of closing a country school will be the subject for discussion for a long time to come.

Willing to be Drafted Possibly.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 27.—One of General Harrison's most influential worshippers among the Indiana politicians was authority to-day for the statement of much significance just now in the political world. Anent Harrison's being a receptive candidate, he said, a letter had been written to the general recently by leading republicans of Indiana, asking him if he would accept in case the St. Louis convention nominated him. In reply to this letter General Harrison is said to have remarked that "being drafted and volunteering are two different matters." The inference is that he would accept the nomination.

Four Turned Down.

Harrisburg, March 27.—Secretary of the Commonwealth Reeder to-day decided four of the applications for gas company charters, which have long been in abeyance. He refused charters to companies in Scranton, Allentown, Lancaster and Williamsport. April 8, about twenty-five other gas companies will have a hearing. Their applications for charters involve other legal points and protests have been filed against the granting of charters to them.

This Life of Ours.

Drink and the gang drinks with you; swear off and you go it alone; for the bar room "bum" who drinks your rum has a quenchless thirst of his own. Feast and your friends are many; fast and they cut you dead; they'll not get mad if you treat them bad as long as their stomachs are fed. Steal if you get a million, for then you can get furnish bail; it's the great big thief that gets out on leave, while the little one goes to jail.

A Strange Disappearance.

New Cumberland, W. Va., March 26.—The usual quietness of this town has been rudely shattered by the disappearance of George S. Lambert, who has been for years closely identified with the business and social interests of the place.

Lambert is charged with embezzlement of the funds of McMahon, Porter & Co., sewer pipe manufacturers, and yesterday the Hancock grand jury found a seven-count indictment against him. His defalcation, it is alleged, extended over a period of several years. Last evening Mrs. Greer, of Fittsburg, who was on his bond, took the necessary steps to liberate herself from the obligation, and Lambert, in company with two officers, went to the justice's office to fil a new bond. He asked to be allowed to see his wife while on the way to hunt new bondsmen. Assent being given Lambert entered his house, said good-by to his wife and escaped through the rear doors, locking them after him. He told the officers he wanted to change his shoes. No tidings have been received from him and it is evident he has shaken the Hancock county dust from off his feet and "dusted" for other portions of the country. He has been for years one of the most trusted men in New Cumberland, one in whom every one had the highest confidence. Until recently he was a member of council, president of the board of education and a prominent politician, and was also connected with several secret societies. The one redeeming feature was he never "worked" the church or religious game.

Welcomed Rev. Rue.

On Thursday evening a number of the members of the Methodist church went in a body to the parsonage, the home of Rev. J. W. Rue and family. The purpose of their going there was to extend to their pastor their congratulations and a hearty welcome to him owing to the fact that he was re-appointed to fill the Bellefonte pulpit for another year. Mr. Rue has already accomplished a great work in Bellefonte and the fact that he will be here another year gives assurance that the good work will continue at his hands. Hence the great joy expressed by his congregation and the object of their visit to his home on Thursday evening. Rev. Rue, unassuming as usual, met the visitors at the door and immediately proceeded to make every one feel perfectly at home. After everybody had been seated, several addresses were made bidding their leader a hearty welcome. Rev. Rue responded in a few words, thanking the people for their kindness and aid to him in his work and promising still greater things during the coming year.

It was indeed an enjoyable occasion. No one was happier than the pastor who was just being honored. But he took it all in his quiet way and extended to each one present his heartfelt thanks and appreciation for their loyalty to him. At a reasonable hour every one eparted, but not before several good hymns had been sung, and sung with an ardor too.

Will Christen With Wine.

Philadelphia, March 26.—Charles H. Cramp, President of the Williamn Cramp Ship and Engine Building Company builders of the battleship Iowa, stated to-day that he thought wine would be used, in christening the vessel Saturday, despite the resolutions of the residents of Moulton, Ia., requesting Gov. Drake to cause his daughter Mary, who will christen the ship, to use water.

Jackson and Walling Plead not Guilty.

Newport, Ky., March 26—Jackson and Walling were brought before Helm this morning, that they might plead to the indictment charging them with the murder of Pearl Bryan. When the prisoners were arraigned they pleaded not guilty. Upon the demand of their attorneys an order was entered that the cases be tried separately. Jackson will be placed on trial first, and April 7 was fixed as the date of his hearing. The prisoners were then taken to their cells.

A Bad Day for Accidents.

Shenandoah, Pa., March 26.—There were six mine accidents here to-day. At Ellangowan colliery, Michpel Muldoon and Adam Litman were thought to be fatally injured by a fall of coal, and Anthony Barnistav was seriously burned by a gas explosion. At Knickerbockers colliery Andrew Gufsky and James Pagerants were badly burned by a gas explosion, and at Maple Hill John Konoplay was injured.

Fire in Chambersburg.

Chambersburg, Pa., March 26.—The White business block was fired in the third story at 2 o'clock this morning, and the flames consumed the building and contents before they were subdued. The loss is about $56,000, with $25,000 insurance.

Among the losers are: F. H. Williams, photographer, $500. "People's Register," weekly newspaper, $8,000; insurance $5,000. J. H. Deckert, clothing, $7,500; insurance $6,000. W. O. Appenzeller, dry goods, $15,000; insurance $10,000. C. P. Miller & Co., stoves and tinware, $8,000; insurance $4,500. Small tenants, $1,000. The buildings were valued at $15,000. No insurance.

Could Use Anything.

Young man (to editor)—I have such a fine story here. Can you use it?

Editor—Oh, certainly, we can use almost anything here.

To office boy—Sherman, put a few more manuscripts in the stove, the room is growing cold.

Short in His Accounts.

Mercer, Pa., March 25.—Citizens of Mercer are greatly exercised over a report that W. J. Graham, the county treasurer, is short in his accounts. It leaked out yesterday that he was behind in his accounts to the extent of $8,936. It is a fact that the auditing committee have found a discrepancy to this extent, although they have not officially reported it. Treasurer Graham went to Pittsburg yesterday, and it spread like wildfire that he had fled to Mexico. He returned late last night, and when met by his bondsmen and informed of his deficit he persistently denied the same, claiming it was a mistake of the auditing committee; that he was not a thief, and had not robbed the county of a dollar.

To-day he voluntarily turned over his accounts to his bondsmen and deputized J. M. Sherwood to take charge of his office until the mistake could be rectified. His bondsmen are satisfied that he will be able to explain the deficit, and do not believe he has misappropriated the money. His honesty has never been questioned before. His request will give him to have his books examined immediately in his favor.

Some New Postmasters.

Washington, March 25.—The president to-day sent to the senate the nomination of W. H. Kile to be postmaster at Cambridgeboro, Crawford county, Pa.

The following fourth class postmasters were appointed to-day for Pennsylvania: B. F. Dock, Dry Valley Cross Roads, Union county; T. C. Kand, High Lake, Wayne county; G. M. Ellis, McLallen Corners, Erie county; Miles Endress, Union Church, Huntingdon county.

Almost Frozen to Death.

Sharon, Pa., March 25.—Wylse Rust a farmer living on the Sharon-Clarksville road, found a tramp in his barn yesterday nearly frozen to death and suffering from a dangerous attack of pneumonia. He was lying on a pile of hay and was nearly stiff with cold. He was removed to the Clarksville jail, which is the first occupant it has had since it was built, over a year ago, and it is thought he will die. He gave his home as Beaver Falls.

Death of General Casey.

Washington, March 25.—General Thomas Lincoln Casey, late chief of engineers United States army, died at the new congressional library at 3 o'clock this afternoon, probably of heart disease. He was in his room at the new buildings and was seized with a pain in his heart. He was laid upon a lounge and died almost instantly.

Killed by Seashore Express.

Lancaster, Pa., March 25.—William J. Martin, a young man of this city, was struck by the seashore express at Lemon street crossing while going to work this afternoon and instantly killed. He was 25 years of age and unmarried.

Taken to Harrisburg.

The remains of the late William Hamilton, who died in this city on Tuesday morning, were this morning taken to Harrisburg for interment. Judge J. A. Beaver accompanied the body and will have it in charge until it is interred.

Will Move.

Mr. H. C. Brew and family will shortly move from their present residence on North Allegheny street to the Brew home on Spring street. It is not known who will occupy the house to be vacated by Mr. Brew.

STRUCK BY THE TRAIN.

George E. Andrews, a travelling salesman whose home is at Sharon, Pa., met with an accident on Thursday afternoon about 4.20 o'clock that might have cost him his life. As it is, he sustained some injuries to his left shoulder, besides having his face scratched pretty badly.

It seems that Andrews, who by the way is selling undertakers' supplies, was in Milesburg on Thursday on business and had gone to the station to take a train for the West. Upon reaching the station he found he had some time to wait until the train which he wanted to take would come along. He was idling away his time by walking up and down the track watching some shifting on another track. The Snow Shoe train is due at Milesburg about 4.15 p. m., and in the course of a few minutes it came thundering along. Whether Andrews didn't see it or couldn't hear it is not known, but in a second he was struck and knocked off and along the side of the track. The train was stopped and the unfortunate man taken into the baggage car. He was brought to Bellefonte at once and Railroad Physician, Dr. Geo. F. Harris, summoned. The injured man was removed from the train to the Bush House, where an examination was made. It was found that his left shoulder was badly bruised and his face slightly cut. The greatest injury was the terrible shock he has sustained. Everything that was possible was done to make him comfortable and he commenced to recover from his terrible experience.

The injured man was feeling pretty good to-day. He was naturally a little sore, but will soon be well enough to start home. Fortunately there was not even one bone broken.

DON'T STOP TOBACCO.

How to Cure Yourself While Using it.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Baco-Cure" is a scientific cure for tobacco habit in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Baco-Cure." It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently any case with three boxes, or refund the money with 10 per cent, interest. "Baco-Cure" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with no inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew or smoke.

Cured by Baco-Cure and Gained Thirty Pounds.

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on the file and open to inspection the following is presented.

Clayton, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 28, 1895.

Eureka Chemical & Mfg., Co., La Crosse Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but couldn't. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride of Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Baco-Cure" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of the body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and condition.

Yours respectfully, P. H. MARBURY.

—We suppose Editors Harter and Kurtz will now remark that the amount of damages claimed for the burned Ettlinger property at Woodward, is just and reasonable. It wouldn't be a bad idea if they would have the sheriff's posse and one or two who weren't in the posse draw up a petition indorsing what their journals have to say about the amount of damages and how reasonable the claim is. If they would do this it would save a big law suit as the courts and the county commissioners would at once bow to their opinions which could not help but be right. Of course it an intelligent claim or rather it will be after the Gazette-Democrat combine says so.

—John Moore, a Williamsport wagon-maker, has been missing from his home, and no trace of him has been found for over three weeks. When Moore left home on March 6 he had only about $5 and was dressed in his old clothes. He was seen on March 9; since then no trace of him can be found. Any information regarding the missing man will be gratefully received by his wife at 575 East Third street. Moore is 53 years old, weighed 125 pounds, and was five feet three or four inches tall, gray hair and mustache, blue eyes, light trousers, long black overcoat, blue flannel shirt, black necktie, black slouch hat and felt boots.

—Judge Love, of Bellefonte, is a great admirer and warm friend of Major McKinley. After the war both young men entered the Albany Law School, where they became fast friends. Both graduated from the school in 1867. Judge Love is not in politics, but he says if the Centre county people are allowed to express their preference, McKinley will carry it by a large majority.—Tyrone Times.

Political christians must posess a thundering amount of gall to stand up in the church on Sunday mornings and then drive twenty miles in the afternoon to get the promise of a vote. There is no political ladder in existence to-day that is high enough to enable a man to step from its topmost rung into heaven.

—Samuel Griffen of Banks township, Indiana county, met with a serious accident a couple of days ago. He was working in a saw mill and lost a thumb and two fingers by having them taken off by a revolving "edger."

Financial Report.

New York, March.—R. G. Dun & Co will say to-morrow in their weekly review of trade: The returns of failures are somewhat dissapointing. Several of magnitude were mentioned a week ago, and they have swelled the aggregate of defaulted liabilties for three weeks of March to $12,383,614, against $11,271,121 last year. A heavy failure in Texas will also swell the aggregate of returns for the past week, which includes 259 in the United States against 234 last year, and 39 in Canada against 42 last year.

No important change has occured in the general condition of business during the week, and if trade in some respects looks worse, in other respects it looks better. Some failures of magnitude have occured, which have caused much apprehension and unwillingness to lend among bankers and there have been somewhat less favorable features in the dry goods market, but in iron and steel conditions are slightly better, and in boots and shoes considerable more hopeful. Foreign trade is a little more satisfactory, exports from New York for three weeks showing an increase over last year of 6 per cent., while imports have shown nearly the same rate of decrease. In general the course of domestic prices tends to favor the marketing of staples abroad.

Wheat has gained about a point, but corn and cotton remain unchanged. Cotton had a lively rise with the covering of short sellers, but began to decline again a week ago and has been lagging ever since. The receipts from plantations continue quite as large as in same week of the last short crop year and stocks in sight, with the quantities known to be held by European and American mills, make up an ample supply for the rest of the crop year.

The iron and steel markets have disclosed a similar figure, for a little Alabama pig has been sold for export though few imagine that much business of that sort is possible. The combination of lake ore producers has at last announced its prices for the coming season: Four dollars for first-class Bessemer; $3 40 to 3.75 for Mesabi, and 3 for non-Bessemer ores, and it is calculated that with coke $2 per ton Bessemer pig can be produced at about $12,25 at Pittsburg, which is now the current price there. But the slow marketing of finished products is still the main trouble. There has been a little more activity this week, and the Carnegie works have sold 10,000 steel rails to Japan, thus scoring a note-worthy success, but, in the main the market is about as inactive and insufficient as it has been.

Bellefonte Needs one too.

Tyrone Times: "Through the efforts of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union an anti-cigarette league has been formed in our public schools. Some time ago Mrs. Wharton a member of the W. C. T. U., who goes about from place to place, organizing these leagues, came to Tyrone and lectured on the evil results from the use of cigarettes, and formed a band which she named the anti-cigarette league. A large number of the school boys joined pledging themselves to dispense with the use of tobacco in any form before they are twenty one years of age, and also to use their influence to have others to abstain from it. Each member will be presented with a neat little stick pin which will serve as a badge."

It would indeed be a blessing if such a league could be started in Bellefonte. Surely there is much need of one and we feel confident that good could be accomplished were such a plan to be resorted to in our city.

Food, undigested, is poison. Digested it is life and strength. Millions of us suffer from indigestion, but we often dont know it. We think it is something else. Even doctors often mistake the symptoms.

Pale, thin people, who are overworked who need strength, who seem in want of proper food, should take Shaker Digestive Cordial. It is astonishing what food will do, when properly digested.

It will make you strong, revive you, refresh you, sustain you, make you fat, restore your color, make muscle, brain fibre, courage, endurance, energy; increase your power to throw off disease and keep you healthy and happy.

Indigestion does just the opposite, but indigestion can be cured and prevented with Shaker Digestive Cordial.

Who Will Pay The Damages?

The last chapter of the Woodward tragedy has now come up for enactment. It has not been uuexpected either, but it caused a surprise by its enormity. It no other than "who is to pay for the Ettlinger home burned at Woodward?"

Hiram M. Goodman came to Bellefonte to-day and presented a bill to the county commissioners for $2,475. This he claims is the value of the property burned at the time of the tragedy. The property belonged to Mrs. Emma C. Goodman and her husband H. M. Goodman was here to present her claim.

A few facts taken from the records at the court house will show just how absurb the claim really is. On February 9th 1895 this same property in question wa sold by Thomas E. Smith, admin. of Sarah Hufferd (nee Ettlinger, a mother of murderer Bill Ettlinger) to Emma C. Goodman at administrators' sale for $752. The sale was confirmed on April 22nd, '95 and the deed recorded May 31st, '95.

Now this property was sold to the highest bidder. Whether or not this was the actual value of the property is of no consequence. The fact that $752 was the highest bid made fo it showsthat it was all anybody considered it to be worth. Now the very parties who paid $752 for the property only a few months ago, have the audacity to present a claim to the county commissioners for $2,475 or $1,723 more than they really paid for it. Surely no property, such as the one in question, and situated at Woodward of all places could increase in value to such an extent in so short a time. The idea is absurb and can't help but be ridiculed by even the most predjudiced.

What will be done with the case is at this time only matter of conjecture. The only way that it can be settled is by the courts. The first thing to be determined is "is the county liable for the burning of this building?" and "if so, what is a reasonable amount to be paid for the same?"

Was Emil Scared?

About 3 o'clock this morning Officer Gares was making a tour of the town when he happened to cometalong Spring street by the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Joseph. When Gares came to the corner he discovered that the shutters of one of the windows were wide open and the sash raised. He looked into the room and saw several small things lying on the floor, and his natural supposition was that it was the work of burglars. Going over to the Centre County Bank he called to John Wagner who came over and watched the window while Officer Gares made a search around the house, but could find no other windows or doors open. Mr. Joseph was then awakened and he came out to see what was wrong. For a while he was sure that burglars were in the house. He was, however, more afraid of catching cold than he was of the burglars robbing his handsome home. A search of the rooms was made, but nothing was found, and finally the hired girl asked Mr. Joseph whether he had shut the window last night when she told him to. It was all explained then. Emil remembered he had forgotten to close the window and this helped to quiet his nerves. We don't know whether he caught cold or not.

The Poverty Social.

The men of the Reformed church held a poverty social at Crider's Exchange on Thursday evening which was a grand success in every particular. It was a poverty affair in every sense of the word. If you weren't broke you would be when you got out. Everything was simply "fine." If you had on any of an clothes you were fined for it, and you were fined if you hadn't. Why they really fined a man for breathing and then levied seven cents on him because he died.

But it was a very pleasant evening for everybody. It was an "everybody's evening" not one of those where two or three stroll off followed by another two or three until one is left alone with no one for company but those who are selling something.

Quite a neat little sum was realized during the evening. The refreshments were splendid and the way they were punished was a caution. Judging from the number of gaudy costumes, one would have thought he was in the midway. To have stayed a few moments you were convinced that it was a reproduction of some of the midway schemes. But then as every thing was fine, well—oh that's all right we 'aint a kickin.

—On Sunday, March 22, Edward McCullough, aged 11 years, whose home is in Derry, fell from the top of a a water tank to the street below, a distance of twenty-five feet. He broke both his arms, one leg, and in addition was so badly injured internally that his recovery is doubtful.

What the Lehigh Valley Expects to Do.

Philadelphia, March 27.—Charles S. Lee, general passenger agent of the Lehigh Valley railroad system, announcees that the company is now having constructed two trains of elegantly equipped cars for service between New York and Buffalo, which, it is claimed, for completeness of detail, comfort and safety, will surpass any trains now in operation in the world. The company has decided to adopt some appropriate and suitable title for these trains, and has offered a prize of $25 in gold for the suggestion of a name that shall finally be adopted. Communications should be sent to Mr. Lee prior to April, and the envelopes should be marked "name contest." The name suggested must be short and to the point, and one not in use by any railroad at the present time.

Fatal
Pneumonia.

That dreaded disease that temporarily compels a cessation of the work of all the greater organs of the body, thus stopping the digestion of food, the creation of new tissue, brings the patient to a point where the flickering flame of life is blown out like the light of a burnt-out candle. To make recovery probable, keep up the patient's strength—give him that great concentrated essence of the vital principles of lean beef, the strength of which is enhanced by our special cold process method of manufacture, it can be retained by the weakest stomach, and in every instance makes blood, flesh and strength. Dr. Charles Wilson, Atwell Ave., Providence, says; "My wife suffered a severe attack of pneumonia; after passing the acute stage fearing heart failure, I gave her freely Bovinine and port wine, equal parts. I have never seen such good results. I am a hearty believer in Bovinine for quick nutrition." Over 25000 other physicians endorse it equally strong.

Why Lincoln Grew a Beard.

It was by request of a young woman whom he had never seen that Lincoln grew his first beard. In 1861 he traveled from Springfield to Washington and made a series of speeches.

At Erie Northeast station he prefaced his address by saying that a year previously he had received a letter from a young girl in that place asking him to let his whiskers grow.

"And if that young lady is present," added the president, "I would like to ask her if she will come up and tell me what she thinks of the result, for I have followed her advice."

Amid the cheers of the audeince a pretty girl made her way to the platform and was kissed by the president.

A Long Term as Postmaster.

In 1830 President Jackson appointed Rev. James McGee postmaster at what is now McGee's Mills, Clearfield county. At his death his daughter in law Mrs. Thos. McGee, was appointed. She held the office for about ten years when her husband Thomas McGee, was appointed. At his death his wife was reappointed, and after a few years her son William B. McGee was appointed and is the present incumbent, so that the office has been in that immediate family for sixty five years. The McGees, though Jacksonian Democrats, are so highly esteemed by Republicans and Democrats alike in that vicinity that they are safe under all administrations if they want the office. When the office was first established mail was received twice a week. Now seventeen mails are received daily. Punxsutawney Spirit.

COLD IN HEAD

OUR NEW YORK LETTER.

New York, March 30, 1896.

For the moment, Wall Stteet has lapsed into a yielding mood. A variety of minor factors have helped to produce this temper. As much importance is attached to the money question, there is a disposition to defer operations until the State conventions have given their indications as to what is likely to be the attitude of the two parties towards silver at the National conventions. The disturbance of loans and the stiffening of the rate of interest incident to the usual April settlements also acts as an unsettling influence. Owing to weather conditions, the earnings of the Western railroads show some falling off from their late high rate of increase. The condition of European politics has distributing effect upon the foreign markets, which shows its effect in a slight selling of stocks here on foreign account. From one reason or another, the "Industrials" are in an unsettled state, which has an unfavorable effect upon railroad shares. Besides which, the acute agitation of the Cuba question in Congress keeps up a feeling of apprehension lest some distributing complications should finally come out of this meddling. The combined effect of these influences has been to afford the "bears" an opportunity at a period which is always unfavorable to the stock market. They have used the opportunity freely, and the result has been a yielding in prices of one to two points during the week.

There can be no question that by far the most important obstructions to the return of confidence in investment operations stand connected with questions which await Congressional action. That distrust arises not only from the fact that such questions are held in suspense, but equally or more from the circumstance that there is a great lack of confidence that Congress will finally act upon them wisely and with moderation. Political ambitions and party tactics have come to so completely control the action of Congress that there appears to be no longer any possibility of having great questions of finance or commerce dealt with upon their merits. The prejudices and the uniformed sentiment of the masses, together with the private interests of senators, warp discussion and distort measures to such an extent that Congress, instead of being a safe dependence for wise legislation, has become the object of a deep-seated distrust. This keeps the material interests of the nation in constant suspense. Men contemplating long investments, or desiring to enter upon undertakings that run far into the future, can make no calculation upon what may be subject. Congress no longer holds their confidence as being a body of prudent, wise and conservative statesmen who may be trusted to respond to the soundest elements of public opinion. It has constituted itself above all the tool of the ignorance, the prejudices and the passions of the million; and sound finance sound money and sound trade politics no longer find safe protection in the legislative power. It is a fixed consciousness of the demoralization and the perversion of the law making authority which is now more than anything else causing the hesitation and postponement that are paralyzing industry and investment in the United States. This political distrust is especially liable to make itself felt during the year of the presidential election; and a presidential election at a period when fundamental money questions are in the balance must inevitably cause considerable unsettlement.

Questions of this weighty nature are taken much more seriously at the financial centre of the nation than among the smaller populations of the country. To men who represent hundreds of millions invested capital, it is a matter of the utmost gravity whether those investments are to yield a return payable in gold and its equivalents or in a currency depreciated one half as compared with gold. The rural constituencies, however, view such serious light. They know little of the differences between one kind of money and another and regard the quantity of money as a much more important matter than its quality. Yet this very class have the numerical majority at the polls and therefore men easily turn the scale against those whose fortunes depend upon our money maintaining its face value in gold. It is therefore no matter of surprise that New York and other large centres should feel deeply concerned about the uncertainty in which the money of the future is involved, and about the results of an election in which the constitution of our money is the primary issue.

It should be some assurance to this class of people that the drift of public opinion on this money question is distinctly shaping in favor of sound principles and methods. Public education upon such a complicated question must necessarily be slow, and we may have to wait yet some time before a final conclusion is reached. The main question is whether the popular sentiment is moving in the right direction; and on that point close observers can have no second opinion That being demonstrated, there is room for a large abatement of the present misgivings among cautious people. Under the feverish excitement of the Presidential year, people may remain timid; but, as sure as the American people are honest so sure is it that we shall never have any other than honest money. The fierce contest on this issue pending the elections is likely to bring out that prospect with more certainty than now exists, and for that reason I look for a steady recovery of confidence in the market for securities. HENRY CLEWS.

Its One Good Result.

The Gorman Wilson tariff has now been in operation one year and a half. An inquiry into what its results have been is not therefore to be put aside with the declaration that the law has not had time

What are the results? We find them quoted in the columns of the New York Advertiser, the first eighteen months of the republican schedules. It is a record which every voter should study.

"Custom receipts," to use the Advertiser's language, "have fallen off from $290,000,000 to $344,000,000,000, a loss to the federal treasury of $46,000,000. Iternal revenue receipts have declined from $219,000,000 to $190,000,000 a loss of $20,000,000. The total receipts of the goverment have diminished from $540,000,000 to $455,000,000, a loss of $85 000 000.

While these results were being secured he law was operating with almost equal effect upon our exports. When the bill was being debated in congress the farmers were told it would work miracles for them. Their markets were to be widened and to an extent only dreamed of before they were to pay their debts and grow rich upon their increased profits. The imports did increase $72,000,000, taking the place of goods previously manufactured or grown here, but the exports of agricultural products declined heavily Instead of finding new markets for the farmers the law even lost some of their old markets!

A splendid record truly! But it will do one good thing. It will convince the few persons who still believe in the new tariff of its thorough failure.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

"Touch Not, Taste Not, Handle Not."

The boy or young man who commences spending his money for tobacco or intoxicating drinks, as a rule, handicaps himself for life, and poverty and sorrow very frequently result.

It is very easy to get into the habit of using such poisons, but it is very difficult to get out, for they enslave mind and body, and not a few have been driven to despair by the lash of suffering which follows an attempt to regain freedom. Boys and young men, strive toward a noble manhood; do not become slaves; let intoxicating drinks and tobacco alone. Such poisons are not necessary, they will do you no good. You will enjoy much better health, and, as a rule, will live much longer without than with them, as has been abundantly demonstrated by statistics.

Our railroads, our steamboats, and even our manufacturing establishments are beginning to find that they must have young men absolutely free from such habits for responsible positions, especially where life and property are at stake, and risked by the neglect, heedlessness, incapacity, or carelessness of employes. Boys and young men, if you ever think of asking for employment, let the above poisons alone. What merchant, whether free from such habits himself or not, wants or would choose a clerk who was addicted to them, or whose breath smelt of beer, wine, whiskey or tobacco? What man or woman would prefer a doctor whose breath smells of the above poisons, or what congregation would prefer a clergyman to go in and out setting such an example, and thus encouraging the young to use such poisons?

Boys and young men, do not be led into slavery by the example of those already enslaved, but retain your "personal liberty." Save your money, and spend no portion of it except for some useful purpose.

"Ask why God made the gem so small,
And why so huge the granite;
Because he meant mankind should place
The highest value on it."

This was Burn's neat compliment to a rather petite lady friend, but it applies with literal exactness to the concentrated, yet agreeable, minute, sugar coated globules, known the world over as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which are easy to take, quick and mild in action, leave no constipating effects. They act especially on the liver, stomach, bowels and blood, freeing the system from impurities and restoring healthy action of the organs.

Killed His Mother-in-Law.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 23.—Andrew Cashnock, residing at Beaver Brook, quarreled with his mother-in-law, Mrs. Peter Warmsky, late on Saturday night Cashnock lost his temper and picking up a poker, struck her on the head, fracturing her skull. The woman died this afternoon. The murderer made his escape this morning.

Doctors' Mistakes.

TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

How large bills are run up without benefit to the sufferer.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from nervous disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going, indifferent, or over-busy doctors, separate and distinct diseases, for which they prescribe their pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disease. The physician ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It cures all derangements, irregularities and weaknesses of the womanly organs. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, due to pregnancy, weak stomach, and kindred symptoms, its use, will prove very beneficial. It also makes childbirth easy by preparing the system for parturition, thus assisting Nature and shortening "labor." The period of confinement is also greatly shortened, the mother strengthened and built up, and an abundant secretion of nourishment for the child promoted. Sold by all dealers.

555 New Wells Completed.

The Oil City Derrick's oil report for February shows that 555 new wells were completed in February in Pennsylvania 1,072 rigs up and wells drilling and 150 dry holes. There were just 1,000 wells completed in the various sections of the producing regions of New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana, during February, and the new production footed up 16,166 barrels. A total of 207 dry holes was completed, while the sum of the new operations at the close of the month was 1,744. This shows an increase of 1,572 barrels of production over January.

The Doctor Didn't Die.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 24.—A dispatch from Towanda says that to-day was the day set for the funeral of Dr. A. W. Jayne, a well known physician of that place. but no obsequies were held. Dr. Jayne did not die, as was reported, but awoke from a cataleptic condition to-day, very much surprised at the preparations for his burial. He had been confined to his bed for some time, a sufferer from a severe attack of erysipelas, and tired out from many nights of wakefulness and pain, was overcome at last by sleep. The doctor is much refreshed by his sleep, and it is not unlikely that he will get well.

Running the Clock Backward.

This apparently impossible feat is easy to the watchmaker, but more wonderful is the necromancy which makes the old young again. Yet that is very much the effect Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has on multitudes of prematurely worn-out, broken-down women, who seek in it relief from the manifold woes of their sex. Backache, dragging pains, displacements, nausea, functional derangements and irregularities disapear before its use as by magic.

For nursing mothers and all debilitated and run down women, it is the most effective restorative tonic and soothing nervine Dispels melancholly and produces refreshing sleep. To those about to become mothers it is a priceless boon. It lessens the pain and perils of childbirth, shortens labor, promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child and shortens the period of confinement.

One Was Killed.

Pittsburg, March 24.—Thomas Davis and L. H. Wilmore, while walking on the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad near Stewart's station this morning, were struck by a passenger train. Davis was instantly killed. Wilmore escaped with severe bruises. Wilmore's home is at Scranton, Pa. Davis lived at Summit, near Scranton, was 37 years of age, and leaves a widow and three children. The men were enroute to Pittsburg to get work.

—"I had a bad cold which developed into grip. Physicians gave me no relief, and I finally tried Dr. Wood's Norway Syrup. One bottle cured me completely. It is a wonderful medicine." Jacob Hanmies, Lyon Station, Pa.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent.

Washington, March, 30.—Speaker Reed can certainly afford to smile at the Democratic stories of that "revolt" of the House against him. The aforesaid "revolt" consisted of the house voting to devote a day to the consideration of private bills on the calander, instead of following the advice of Chairman Cannon, of the appropriation committee, and going ahead with the sundry civil appropriation bill. Speaker Reed had no more to do with the matter than the reader of this paragraph, and the only reason for the vote was that many of the members realizing, especially since the offering of Senators Platt's resolution for adjournment on May 2, that the session is rapidly drawing to a close, were anxious to try to get action upon private bills in which they are interested. That is all there was to it.

The Cuban business will be finished so far as congress is considered as soon as the house accepts the conference report in favor of the house adopting the senate resolution instead of its own. The change was made because it became clear that there was an intention on the part of a few senators to prevent a vote being taken on the original conference report, which was in favor of the house resolutions being adopted as a substitute for those of the senate. There will probably be some talk on the subject in the house, but no protracted debate is expected, or will be allowed, before the conference report is agreed to. If those who are assuming the right to speak for Mr. Cleveland know what they are talking about the resolution will not be of any material benefit to the Cubans.

The sentiment of the republicans in congress is practically unanimous in favor of passing the appropriation bills and adjourning as early as possible, it having been fully demonstrated that no other important legislation can be gotten through at this session.

Secretary Hoke Smith may find when he returns from his present Georgia against the free silver senatorial candidacy of ex-Speaker Crisp that he has got mixed up in an ugly scandal. Just before he left Washington he issued orders reducing Sergeant Perry and Captain Watson, of the pension bureau watch, and their friends intimate that the reduction is a punishment for not doing what some of Secretary Smith's friends wanted done, rather than for any neglect of duty. It is reported that Senator Voorhees and Turpie, of Indiana, who although they are Democrats are not in love with Secretary Smith and his methods, particularly those relating to Pension office matter, will take up the cases of the reduced men and get them justice if they have to have the whole business investigated by a Congressional committee.

Ex-Senator Warner Miller, of New York, told the House Committee that the Nicaraguan canal company, of which he is president, had never asked Congress for aid and was now not asking for aid. He said that all the company asked was a definite answer as to the position this government intended to occupy in the matter, and that if the Governmentdidn't want to control the canal and by so, the company would get private capital to carry out its plan, but that it could do nothing while the attitude of this Government was uncertain.

Congressmen were reminded of the adage "Go away from home to hear the news," when a telegram from Mass. was published in a local paper saying that a Democratic member of the House, not in that state, was authority for the statemen that Mr. Cleveland had written a letter announcing his desire to retire to private life and positively stating that he would not allow his name to go before the Chicago convention as a candidate. If he had stopped right there his story might have had some believers. But he killed every thing by saying that it had been Mr. Cleveland's intention to publish the letter some time ago, but he had been pursuaded by members of the Democratic committee to hold it a while longer. Now it is well known to every man woman and even the children who reached the age of discretion, that Mr. Cleveland has never since he became president, been persuaded into doing any thing.

The all-absorbing topic whenever two or three Repulicans are gathered together is the election of delegates to the St. Louis convention. The claims of nominations are not being so positively made by the friends of any of the candidates as they were a short time ago. It is now generally admitted that Gov. McKinley will have a good lead on the first ballot but not enough to nominate him. The conundrum that is most discussed is, will he gain the first ballot? His supporters say he will and his opponents that he will not, and both are ready to present an argument to prove that they are right Speaker Reed will be secon ength on the first baliot.

In a Foreign Land.

Lebanon, Pa. April 1.—A letter has been received here from Richard Soule, coroner of Osborne, Australia, that on January 1st a man named Frank Hean, aged 54 years, was found dead in a field near St. Kilda, a suburb of Osborne, with a bullet hole in his temple and a revolver with one empty chamber by his side.

There seems to be little doubt that this man was Maj. B. Frank Hean, ex-prothonotary of Lebanon county, in whose accounts a shortage of $7,500 was found last October, when he mysteriously disappeared.

Castoria is truly a marvelous thing for children. Doctors prescribe it, medical journals recommend it and more than a million mothers are using it in place of Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, so-called soothing syrups and other narcotic and stupefying remedies. Castoria is the quickest thing to regulate the stomach and bowels and give healthy sleep the world has ever seen. It is pleasant to the taste absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, quiets pain, cures diarrhœa and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend.

Castoria is put up in one size bottles only. It is not sold in bulk. Don't allow any one to sell to sell you anything else on the plea or promise that it is "just as good" and "will answer every purpose." See that you get C-A-S-T-O-R-I-A.

An Altoona Man Electrocuted.

Altoona, Pa., April 1.—While at work in the lathe shop of the Pennsylvania rrilroad this morning, William Jones, 40 years old, was accidentally electrocuted. Jones was standing on an iron girder, which supports the shafting, oiling the machinery. The spout of his oil can came in contact with a bare electric arc wire, and instantly the current of 3,000 volts passed through his body. He fell to the timbers supporting the shafting, and when discovered his head was against the arc lamp, with his feet resting on the girder. The only marks on him were slight burns on the right hand and on the soles of his feet.

Good Listeners.

In conversing with one's friends nothing is so chilling as an apparent lack of attention and sympathy. It might be added that nothing is more vulgar, were not the listener's indifference common to the majority of our most cultured people. If, when one is addressed, she will remember to incline the body slightly forward, an attitude of rapt attention will soon be conscienciously assumed, and whether really worthy of it or not, new recruits gained for the always popular as rare, class known as "good listeners."—New York Times.

NOTE.

In accordance with the act of June 6, 1887, interest will be added to the amount of all taxes assessed against unseated lands above advertised. JOHN Q. MILES,
4-2-19t County Treasurer.

Said to Have Confessed.

Philadelphia, March 30.—John Rech, the murderer of his wife Bessie at Estelville, N. J., who was captured on the outskirts of this city early yesterday morning was arraigned before Magistrate Jermon at the city hall to-day and formally held to await the arrival of requisition papers. Prosecutor Perry and Sheriff Johnson, of Atlantic county, N. J., were present at the hearing and upon the suggestion of the former the prisoner was not questioned. The confession which Rech made to the Philadelphia authorities was turned over to prosecutor Perry and it will form an important part in the commonwealth case.

After the hearing Rech expressed a desire to speak and captain of detectives Miller had the prisoner brought to his room. There in the presence of a number of persons Rech told of his experience in this country and of his meeting Bessie Weaver and marrying her.

"I came to this country from Germany about ten years ago and went to Catasauqua, Pa., where I managed to secue work.

I saved my money, learned to speak English and then went to Allentown where I opened a bakery. I did not do very well in that business and bought a saloon in Glouchester, N J. It was at the latter place that I met Bessie Weaver. She came to my house and engaged a room. She drank and smoked and even with her bad habits I was fascinated with her and soon she began to help me in my hotel business. I asked her why she did not settle down to a good life. She said she would if she had some one to take care of her. I then decided to marry the girl and we went to Jersey City and had the ceremony performed by a justice of the peace."

The bravado which Rech displayed at the time of his arrest has all vanished. To-day he said he did not mind going back to N. J. for a fair trial, but expressed a fear that the citizens of Atlantic county would not wait for justice to take its course. Rech asked if there was any likelihood of him being lynched and he was assured that he would be safe when lodged in the Mays Landing jail. This will probably have the effect of making the New Jersey officials take extra precautions to guard the prisoner.

Spring

Is the season for purifying, cleansing, and renewing. The accumulations of waste everywhere are being removed. Winter's icy grasp is broken and on all sides are indications of nature's returning life, renewed force, and awakening power.

Spring

Is the time for purifying the blood, cleansing the system and renewing the physical powers. Owing to close confinement, diminished perspiration and other causes, in the winter, impurities have not passed out of the system as they should but have accumulated in the blood.

Spring

Is therefore the best time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, because the system is now most in need of medicine. That Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best blood purifier and Spring medicine is proved by its wonderful cures. A course of Hood's Sarsaparilla now may prevent great suffering later on.

An Expert's Opinion.

In buying tin canned vegetables or fruits those only should be selected that have a slight depression in the end of the can. This, by experts, is accepted as proof that the contents of the can are in proper condition. If the end of the can is raised or bulged reject it, as this is a proof that the contents of the can were not heated sufficiently at the time of sealing or that in the past or present they have fermented.

Old Fashioned Economy.

There is an old couple living in Sullivan county, New York, who evidently believe that economy of space is a promoter of comfort. Their cottage contains two rooms, a kitchen and a bed room. Out in the barn in the early part of the winter they had a cow but when the cold snap struck them in the early part of February they quietly led the cow into the bed room and tied her to the foot of the bed. They have kept her there since. It saves the trouble of going out to the barn on cold mornings and the heat generated by the cow helps the stove keep the cold out of the cottage.

Liable to Imprisonment.

By an act of the last legislature persons who furnish false or untruthful and slanderous information to a newspaper for publication, are indictable and subject to heavy fine and imprisonment and the publisher can be required to give the name of the person guilty of furnishing such alter. Beware lest you get yourself into trouble. The law also provides that any one circulating and distributing such printed or written matter, is liable to prosecution under penalty of fine and imprisonment.

Left His Fortune to the Church.

Pittsburg, March 31.—Patrick Hughes, of this city, who died last Thursday, left his entire fortune, estimated at $40,000, to the Holy Cross Roman Catholic church. He started life as a pack pedlar and amassed the money by steady accumulations. He came to Pittsburg in 1850. Hughes had a step son whom he refused to recognize. His wife died a year ago and since that time he had lived the life of a hermit.

Kidney Trouble Cured.

The Importance of knowing just what to do when one is afflicted with kidney disease or troubles of a urinary nature, is best answered by the following letter which was recently published in the Poughkeepsie, N. Y., News-Press:

Millertown, Dutchess Co., N.Y.

"Dr. David Kennedy, Dear Sir:—For more than eighteen months I was so badly afflicted with kidney trouble I could scarcely walk a quarter of a mile without almost fainting. I did not gain any until I began to use Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. After using the first bottle I noticed a decided improvement which continued, and I know that saved my life, for I was in a miserable condition up to the time I began to take it, my friends thought I would never be better.

My sister also has been very sick with kidney trouble for over a year, so bad at times quantities of blood would come from her. She suffered at times most frightful pain, and nothing seemed to help her until she began to use Dr. David Kennedy Favorite Remedy. She is now using her third bottle, and is like a different person.

CENTRAL LEAGUE MEETING.

Base Ball Matters Given Attention at the Session Held at Sunbury Yesterday One More Club Needed.

Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin says: Manager David Spence, of the Demorest club returned last night from Sunbury where he attended the meeting of the Central League of Central Pennsylvania. The following were present: Messers. Young, Mt. Carmel: Eisenhart, Steel, Miller, Herald, Shamokin; and Gould: Williamsport.

Vice President Spence presided. The first business before the meeting was the the reading of the resignation of President C. P. Helfenstein. As Mr. Helfenstein will not in this vicinity during the season the resignation was accepted and Albert D. Miller was elected to fill the vacancy.

The next business was the appointment of a committee on schedule which was made as follows. Fred Gould, Williamsport; Albert D. Miller, Shamokin; J. B. Young, Mt. Carmel. The committee will meet within ten days and arrange the playing schedule. A committee composed of Messrs. Bickford, Miller and Young, were appointed to secure the two clubs necessary for the completion of the six club league. E. S. Welmer, of Sunbury, was present and stated that his city would be represented so that but one more club is all that is needed. The committee will visit Renovo and Bellefonte and submit propositions for the forming of a club at one or the other place,

The association is under the protection of the National League. The Spalding ball was adopted by the league.

The names of John Kelley, of Shamokin, and Edward Horner, of Martinsburg, West Virginia, were placed in nomination as umpires. They will be acted upon at the next meeting.

The club salary limit was placed at $700 per month.

President P. T. Powers of the Eastern League, was present at the meeting and stated that the Wilkes-Barre club would like to arrange a series of spring exhibition games with the Central League clubs so that Williamsporters may have the pleasure of seeing the club here at an early date.

The league will certainly be a success and all that is needed for the Demorest club is the cooperation of the citizens in the patronage of the games. Manager Spence is doing all in his power to strengthen the club, the latest acquisitions being Frank Gatins, of Johnstown, as short stop, and James Roach, of Albany, New York, as pitcher, to fill the vacancy caused by Mattern leaving.

MINERS IN CONFERENCE.

Five Cents Miners Represented and the Five Cents Advance Accepted.

Philipsburg, Pa., March 26.—In pursuance of a call of issue last week a conference of miners of Central and Northern Pennsylvania soft coal fields was held in this place to-day. Five thousand miners were represented. The only important action taken was the adoption of a resolution in favor of accepting the five cents advance offered by the operators and the adoption of a resolution in favor of calling a joint conference of operators and miners for the purpose of securing a further advance later on. A committee was appointed to work up a joint conference.

It was semi-officially stated in this place to-day that the the trouble Samuel P. Langdon is in will in no wise interfere with the operation of the United Colleries company, and the Altoona and Philipsburg Connecting railroads, of which corporation Langdon is president.

More of Ruthven.

Scranton, Pa., March 26.—Great excitement was occasioned here to-day by the arrest of five men as a result of the fatal riot at Dunsmore on Sunday. After being in hiding all day, the alleged ex-priest Ruthven, who caused the trouble, was arrested in his boarding house this evening on a charge of inciting the riot, and he is now in the county jail. The arrests of to-day to the fact that Fred mink, the deputy sheriff who was shot is now dying at the Lackawanna hospital. The four young men who are charged with the shooting are John Welsh, John Lynch, Peter O'Hara and James Payton. The two men who were with Ruthven at the time of the shooting swear that they saw the four men among the riotors and Welsh had a revolver. All four of the young men refuse to go to the hospital so that Mink can see them. The young men gave bail in $1,500 each to answer at a future hearing to-morrow afternoon.

Presbytery to Meet in Tyrone.

The Presbytery of Huntingdon held a "pro-re-nata" meeting in this place March 20th, which changed the place and hour of the stated spring meeting from Bellefonte to Tyrone, so that the Presbytery will meet April 14 at 1:30 p. m. in Tyrone. The Synod of Pennsylvania arranged to hold its October meeting in 1896 in Bellefonte after the Presbytery had adjourned to meet there in April, and not wishing to have the Presbytery and Synod both within six months, Bellefonte arranged that Tyrone would take the Presbytery and the special meeting made the changes as requested.—Lewistown Democrat and Sentinel.

Beware of Counterfeiters.

Who infest the market and are the means of robbing sick people of their money, and what is of still greater consequence of not unfrequently aggravating the complaints under which they labor. It is an act of duty we owe to society to warn the people against these dangerous frauds. A little care on the part of the purchaser will protect them from imposition by bearing in mind these facts: Never buy where it is offered in bulk, (in kegs or jugs) as the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are sold ony in bottles having the handsome steel plate label displaying the combat between St, George and the Dragon, and having at the bottom a miniature note of hand for one cent, bearing a facsimile of the signature of the president of the company. Over the cork is a metallic cap, on which is impressed the name of the article, together with a medallion head in the centre. Any person selling the counterfeit Hostetter's Stomach Bitters we shall not hesitate to bring to justice, as we never fail to convict.

Avoid Cosmetics.

Ladies, shun cosmetics! Most of the common preparations contain poisonous chemicals which exert a deleterious action on the skin; and at the best no paint, powder or wash can supply the natural beauty of a fine complexion. They are palpable and a palpable fraud is an abomination. Pure rain water and good health are essentials to a healthy skin. The former is plentiful; the latter can be regained and kept by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery which purifies the blood removes pimples, blackheads and roughness, strengthens impaired digestion and wards off pulmonary diseases. Without pure blood you cannot have a clear complexion.

—In front of the reproduced Partheon, which will be the centerpiece and fine art gallery of the Tennessee Centennial Exposition will stand a statue of Pallas Athena twenty-five feet high on a pedestal eighteen feet high. Beyond the statue a lake will shimmer and glisten, and near at hand a bridge in imitation of the Rialto at Venice will lead the traveler over. The statue is now being made in a celebrated studio in Paris.

SWEET HOME.

The hot August sunlight beat fiercely down upon the straggling cluster of dingy frame buildings that reared their shabby, pretentious, false fronts in the midst of the parched, quivering prarie. Save for the knot of saddle ponies standing with dejected neads before the door of the single saloon, no sign of life existed. The few buildings scattered along the main street looked unutterably shabby and cheap under that hot, scorching glare.

Things had not been going well at Sweet Home lately. In fact, the boom that had originated and sustained its existance showed unmistakable signs of collapse. The most strenuous efforts of its founder, the most lavish distributions of lurid literature, failed to attract prospective buyers. Seven of the eight columns of the Weekly Ozone had for weeks been devoted to the unparalleled prospects of those owning town lots and the desolate hopelessness of those who did not. A couple of stray tramps, kicked off a passing freight train, were immediately heralded as astute capitalists, eager to grasp at this wealth of opportunity; a passing cyclone that overturned a third of the town was enlarged upon as evidence of the unlimited quantities of pure air.

But it wouldn't go, and William Sweet, Esq., better known as "Windy Bill," was forced to admit, as he sat in his grimy office spitting tobacco juice through the gaping seams in the warped hemlock flooring, that he was near to the end of his rope. All the tried and true dodges of professional town boomers had been used without effect; the obstinate public absolutely refused to invest their money in his town lots.

He glanced at the map of the city hanging on the wall. (It haden't been paid for, but "Windy Bill" never paid for any thing.) The beautifully ruled spaces marked "city hall," "Botanical Gardens," "Public Fountains," ect., were yet as nature had fashioned them. The city hall was a thriving prarie dog town, the Botanical gardens containing a choice collection of tumble weeds thistle and wild mustard, while the site of the public fountain was buried under a miscellaneous collection of defunct animals. The little tickets that marked the property sold were so hopelessly few and scattered as to be almost indiscernable.

Mr. Sweet had been in tight places before; in fact, a considerable portion of his past had been spent dodging those exquisite individuals called deputy sheriffs. Now, however, when his credit at the Blue Goose was attacked, the situation was, indeed, desperate. A man might rub along without meat, but without drink never,

Suddenly an idea developed in his racked brain. Grasping a pen and blowing a cloud of alkali dust from a solid sheet of paper he traced with grimy hands he following lines;

The proprietor of a delightful resort in a state that affords peculiar advantages to those seeking relief from connubial bonds offers special terms to divorcees. Pure air and water. Good society. Address

William Sweet, Esq.,
Mayor and Counselor at Law, Sweet Home
S. D.

"That'll fetch 'em or I'm a sucker," he chuckled, as he eyed the sheet approvingly and proceeded to make a number of copies, which after folding, addressed to a number of prominent news papers. Then with a grin of satisfaction, he drifted over to the Blue Goose.

The arrival of two letters ten days later marked a nibble at the bait. The first was a large square envelope, deeply bordered with black. It inclosed written in a fine hand the following lines.

New York City, Aug. 21, 189–.

Dear Sir and Brother:—My weary eyes were attracted to your advertisement in The Daily ——. Verily, it were like the balm of Gilead to my broken spirit—yea, as the waters of Siloam unto the weary traveler. Compassed about with worldly dissensions and strife, largely stimulated and encouraged by the woman I took to my bosom, who not only possesses a vixenish temper, but also commends the ungodly behavior of the sons of Belial, it behooves one to seek the mental and spiritual relief your worthy laws afford distressed souls. I trust to be with you in body and in spirit within a fortnight.

Your distressed friend,
Rev. Melchisedec Bellwether.

"Well, of all the sharps I ever seed, this yere galoot lays them all out," snorted Mr. Sweet, as he folded the letter. "Lays it to the woman, o' course. They all do. I reckon them sons o' Belial's is pretty gay boys. Some o' these town fellows is dead game."

He opened the next letter—a dainty, perfumed affair. Written at impossible angles in a bewilderingly angular style was the following:

Brooklyn, Aug. 21, 189–.

My Dear Mr Sweet:—I saw your nice advertisement in The Daily ——, and my heart was instantly drawn toward your delightful city. I have been perfectly wild to see the lovely prairies and the magnificent sunsets of your beautiful country. My dearest friends have often been shocked at my adventurous spirit and are horrified when I suggest the bare possibility.

By the way, I have a secret. My husband is a perfect villain. Volumes could be filled with his perfidy and brutality. I am of a meek, forgiving nature and have long withstood the loads of tyranny and abuse he has heaped upon me. But the worm has turned. I am determined to secure my freedom from the wretch who not only abuses me, but several of my gentlemen friends, whenever the opportunity occurs.

You may look for me in about two weeks. I am sure I shall be delighted with my surroundings, including yourself. I can imagine how you look—tall, dark eyed, with flowing shirt collar and wide sombrero, just like one of Mr. Remington's cowboys Fathfully yours,

Evelyn Fairfax De Smythe.

P. S.—For obvious reasons I have not given my married name, which is Boggs.

P. S.—I shall bring six trunks and a maid.

P. P. S.—I shall want a nice lawyer.

The Hon. Mr. Sweet looked at the ceiling in a bewildered way.

"Well, I'll be teetotally chawed up an spit out," he ejaculated. "Beautiful surroundaings. Dark eyes and flowing shirt collar. Bust me!"

He glanced at his reflection in the dusty little mirror that was tilted against the wall. From the scanty growth of ginger colored hair on the top of his head to the gaping toes of his condemned goverment shoes he was a perfect specimen of frayed out, washed out humanity. The only break in his hopeless, colorless shabbiness was in the vivid hue that adored his ample nose.

"I've made the bluff and have got to stay," he continued. "I'll step over and tell the boys. We've got to see this thing through. Dark eyes. Flowin shirt! I'll be teetotally"—and he drifted out.

At the Blue Goose the news was received with every expression of interest and delight, as would anything savoring of excitement be, where the noble game had degenerated to a two bit limit, and jawbone at that.

"We can stand off the gospel sharp all right," said Three Fingered Jack cautiously, "but I'm plum leary o' the woman. They 're cur'us critters."

"Oh, they're easy bluffed," said Lovely Dick, the dealer, who was credited with as many wives as he has aliases. "Anyhow, what do they care? They're hot foot after their divorce papers, and will put up with anything to marry the other fellow. Don't let the wimmin faze you. They're all right."

The prospect of developing in this new industry had an immediate effect on the real estate market. Prices stiffened with an upward tendency, negotiations were at once opened up with Mrs. O'Reagan, proprietress of the Palace hotel, upon which, for the consideration of seven lots in Sweet's second additions, she agreed to furnish threerooms in her hostelry.

The excited, expectant residents were not disappointed. The train from the east one evening brought strangers into town. Identification was unnecessary. Everybody knew the meek looking, smug faced gentleman neatly dressed in black and wearing an air of becoming modesty was the expected divine. The Hon. Mr. Sweet, who had invested in a "biled shirt," and a shave, did the honors as became the mayor. Rev. Mr. Bellwether responded in a few words, in which suspicions of past domestic miser were happily blended with anticipation of future felicity in the companionship of his new found friends. Overcome with the dignified elegance of the strangers, Three Fingered Jack insisted on inviting him to drink, but he was prevented by cooler heads.

Gratifying as was the first reception in this incipient divorce colony, it paled into insignificance when on the following evening amid the obsequious attention of officials and the thunder of banging trunks, a lady daintly atepped from the Puliman, followed by a maid carring two dogs and leading a third. This vision of stylish elegance completely unnerved Mr. Sweet. All his priming flashed in the pan, and he felt, as he afterwards expressed, "like a locoed steer." The big hazel eyes of the fair stranger looked roguishly on at his awkard attempt at introduction. Suddenly stepping foreward, she held out the most beautiful hand the mayor had ever seen.

"It's Mr. Sweet, I know," she sweetly said. "Charmed to meet you. And this is Sweet Home; what a funny little place! I shall be happy here, I know."

The bigeyes rested a moment on his flushed face; then turning to the motly group assembled, she said:

"I suppose you gentlemen are my future fellow citizens. Please don't take me for an intruder. I am only a poor, weak woman with no one to care for me."

That settled it. From that hour each and all were her devoted admirers. She followed the mayor over to the Palace hotel, while the Rev. Mr. Bellwether looked on with an expression of placid benevolence on his smug face.

Following the new arrivals, an era of social gayety such as had never been dreamed of came to the forlorn little town. In her fascinating, impetuous manner Mrs. De Smythe, as she preferred being called, took a marked interest in their daily lives. She discussed real estate with Mr. Sweet, rode with Three Fingered Jack, and talked regeneration of souls with Mr. Bellwether. Her dainty personality was a ray of sunshine in the dull cramped lives of her admirers. A marked improvement in manners, dress and speech was soon manifested. The Blue Goose languished. The consumption of barbed wire whisky at two bits the drink was supplanted by the cultivation of the finer instincts.

Nor was the Rev. Melchisedec Bellwether backward in suggesting the means of furthering the general prosperity. In his mild, benevolent manner he explained to the mayor that the city was suffering from a lack of a circulating medium. In his humble way he had some knowledge of financial methods, and suggested a plan to relieve the stringency. In the business world, the transfer of goods and properties were not always accomplished with the actual cash. Notes of hand or promissory notes figured largely and facilitated business. In fact, he had used them occasionlly himself with gratifying results.

This remarkably simple plan was at once adopted, and its success was such as the most saguine enthusiast could not have dreamed of. Town lots were bought and sold with incredible rapidity. Lots, blocks, additions, changed hands with the agility of shuttlelocks. Windy Bill was buried under the shower of promissory notes that daily rained upon him. Ozone published column after column of transfers, the sum total of which made the neighboring towns of Pig's Eye and Yellow Dog turn green with envy—a state of mind further aggravated when the same enterprising journal boastingly published a society column, with mysterious hints of a Four Hundred.

The necessary six months drew only too suddenly to a close. Poor Bill; his wealth and prosperity had evidently come at last, but did not bring the happiness he had anticipated. The beautiful eyes of Mrs. De Smythe haunted his sleepless nights and gazed from behind his sheaves of promissory notes. The regret and sorrow over her departure were general, and the lady herself was desolate. Nothing but important family affairs could induce her to go, and Bill was cheered at the delicate hint of an early return.

She only requested one favor: Would Mr. Sweet lend her that beautiful map? She wanted a copy made, as a souvenir of the happy days. It is needless to say that it was immediately placed in her hand.

The Rev. Mr. Bellwether called him to one side and still further expounded the mysteries of finance. He suggested that now, as values were fixed, it would be well to place the lots on the outside market. Capitalists would eagerly grasp at property that proved itself subject to such rapid and violent advances. If Mr. Sweet would intrust to his care the deed of the town site, as evidence of secure title, he would call the attention of his wealthy friends to the same.

Bill was overwhelmed with this kind offer. The deed of the 160 acres secured from a drunken old soldier (and never paid for) was quickly transferred to the ministerial grip. Visions of increased wealth and power danced before the founder's eyes—visions in which the central figures were the starry eyes of Evelyn De Smythe.

A hurried trip to the adjoining country town, and, with the documents severing all previous matrimonial contracts safely in their possession, the strangers went their way. Little by little the squalid little town drifted back into the old ways. The wretched buildings grew a little more shabby and desolate. The sheriff came and carried away the paraphernalia of the Weekly Ozone. The editor followed, concealed among the wheels of the first freight train. Bill wandered about in a fever of discontent, daily growing more morose and shabby.

The long savage winter was drawing to a close, and the gray April twilight was settling over the shabby cluster of buildings, when one evening a brisk little man stepped from the train, and with a disapproving look at the forlorn aspect, stepped quickly over to Bill's office.

"I'm Mr. Skinum, of the prominent legal firm of Holdom & Skinum," he said as he bustled in with an important air. "Our clients, Messrs. Bond & Chattels, the St. Louis real estate people, have instructed us to take formal possession of the property."

"Property?" said Bill, with a bewildered air. "What property?"

"Why, the town site of Sweet Home—this town," replied Mr. Skinum.

"This town?" repeated Bill blankly, from the Rev. Mr. Bellwether some weeks ago. We have examined the title and find it O. K. It is already recorded. Here is the abstract." And the lawyer drew a legal document from his pocket. Bill was in a dream. He could not understand.

"I'm rather inclined to believe that the reverend gentleman is a shark," continued Mr. Skinum. "He has evidently misrepresented this property. It's dashed dismal looking outside." But on the strength of his statement backed up with his wife who exhibited the original survey map our clients were induced to buy the town site for $50,000 cash.

As the truth dawned upon him, Bill opened his mouth to speak, but words failed him.

"I am instructed to pay a fair price for the improvements put up by bona fide residents," continued the lawyer. I take it, this is your building: $20 is an outside figure on its value, but on account of the short notice I am willing to pay it. Oblige me with a receipt and kindly vacate it as quickly as possible." He laid a bill upon the table while the unfortunate Bill mechanically wrote a receipt. He was like one hypnotized: to save his life he could not collect his senses or find the means to stay the flood of misfortune that overwhelmed him. Fumbling his old slouch hat, he passed out of the door and walked up the dusty trail leading over the divide.

Reaching the top he halted. Casting his eyes backward, he could discern the few flickering lights that marked the location of the little kingdom where an hour before he had reigned supreme. The situation slowly dawned upon him; he was henceforth an Ishmaelite, a homeless wanderer. A torrent of wrath rose up within him. Casting his old hat violently to the ground, and expectorating the tobacco from his mouth, he sat down on a loose bowlder and gave vent to the fierce, hot anger that shook his frame;

Some newspaper writers are endeavoring to convince the public that it is dangerous to moisten with the tounge the gum of any ordinary envelope for the purpose of closing it. They say that very little gum arabic is used in making this glue and that it is manufactured from parts of dead and diseased animals, thus making it possible to cause blood poisoning. This is worth considering for there may be something in it.

WON A HANDSOME PRIZE.

A Bellefonte Citizen Wins a Valuable Repeating Rifle.

It seems that fate has destined one or two persons to be the lucky ones out of every hundred. It is these two or three that are continually having good things thrust upon them while the great majority pass by unnoticed.

Our esteemed citizen and friend Samuel H. Williams has never been known as a particularly lucky person but on Monday he struck a windfall that opened his eyes so wide that he hasen't been able to get them closed ever since.

For some time the 8th Regiment people at Harrisburg have been chancing off a handsome rifle. Among those who bought chances on it were Mr. Williams of this city. Hd had forgotten all about the matter until this Saturday when he was notified that he was the winner. The following letter will explain itself:

HARRISBURG, March 29, 1896.

LIEUT. S. H. WILLIAMS,
1st Lt. and Q. M. 5th Reg. N. G. P.,
Bellefonte, Pa.

Dear Lieut.—I wired you last evening that you had drawn the 8th Regiment Ambulance Rifle, which came off last evening at the armory of Co. D 8th Reg't, Harrisburg. I suppose you had forgotten all about it. It should have came off on the 22nd of February, but we put it off until last evening. The whole affair was a grand financial success, as we raised about seven hundred dollars, but I want to say that it was quite a big job—lots of work in it, but this will put the 8th Regiment in very nice shape. The winning number was 9,528 You will kindly send the above numbered ticket. It is a Colt's 15 shooter, calibre 44, and works very imple. Be careful in getting onto the way it works.

I will send it to you by to-morrow afternoon via Adams express, prepaid. I am sure you will be pleased with it as it is a very pretty little rifle.

I was very much pleased that some one outside of our Regiment drew it, and I know of no person I would sooner see get it than yourself.

I am, Lieut., yours very resp.,
W. F. RICHARDSON,
1st Lt. and Q. M. 8th Reg't.
State Arsenal.

We congratulare Lieut. Williams on his good fortune. The rifle is indeed a little beauty.

Who Will be the Next?

The Marriage licenses issued from the court house during the past week were not as numerous as is usually the case. They are as follows:

Harry E. Viehdorfer	Burnside twp.
Mary E. Hipple	" "
Robert Orwick	Taylor twp.
Harriet S. Beckwith	" "
David E. Holter	Howard
Emma L. Long	Nittany

A question that arises in our mind as we are recording these licenses is this: "If marriage is a lottery, is it not contrary to law to send the wedding invitations through the mails?"

Broke Her Wrist.

We are extremely sorry to note that Mrs. James Parks, of this place, had the misfortune to break her right arm near the wrist on Monday. It seems that she was doing some work around a stairway when in some way or other, she fell down the stairs sustaining the above named injury. Dr. Harris was called in and rendered the neccessary medical attention and the unfortunate lady is now getting along very nicely.

Another one Gone.

Edward Campbell, night operator in the telephone exchange in this place, left on the 6.20 train this morning for Wilkesbarre where he has secured a lucrative position. His place here will be filled by his brother Arthur, who has had considerable experience with the keys. Ed. has many friends in Bellefonte who will be very sorry to know that he has left for other parts. We wish the young man much success in his new position.

A Fine Concert.

The Undine band made its appearance on the streets on Tuesday evening and rendered several very pretty serenades. The Undines are certainly away up in music and their every selection was fine and greatly appreciated. The trouble is we don't hear them often enough.

Has Fully Recovered.

William Jones who has been sick for several months, has so far recovered that he was able to be out on the street for a short time on Tuesday. William looks slightly the worse for his long seige but expects to soon gain even more than he lost.

Gone to Niagara.

Mr. Morris W. Cowdrick and his family left on the 9.32 train Tuesday morning for their new home in Niagara. Quite a number of friends were at the station to bid them good bye. We are sorry to lose such a good family, but hope they will like their new home.

You are Invited.

The Altar Guild of St. John's Protestant Episcopal church invites everybody to come to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Montgomery on East Linn street on Easter Thursday. April 9th from 7.30 to 10 p. m. A good time is insured to all who come. No admission will be charged to anybody. During the evening refreshments and fancy articles will be for sale for the benefit of the church.

Death at Milesburg.

Elijah Kellerman of Milesburg died at his home on Tuesday evening of heart disease. The deceased was aged abont 53 years and leaves two children to survive him. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. Intrment will be made at the Advent Church Cemetery.

Does Anybody Know Him!

Chief of Police H. H. Montgomery on Saturday received the following letter inquiring about a man who was fouud dead on Tussey mountains and who is thought to have been a resident of Bellefonte:

LAYSBURG, PA., March 28. 1896

CHIEF OF POLICE:

SIR—Am informed that an unknown man was found dead on Tussey mountain some days ago. He was buried at Saxton Pa. Some persons think it was a man who repaired sewing machines, and who registered here as Geo. A. Keeling, Bellefonte, Pa. Is there such a party from your city? If more information would be needed can probably get all the particulars.

Yours &c
H. B. AARON.

Who this one Geo. A. Keeling might be is a mystery. There have been different men visited this city engaged in the business of repairing sewing machines, but no one seems to have any knowledge of such a person having been one of these. He may probably have been a resident of the county and registered as from Bellefonte. This is the only solution to the affair we are able to make. Anyone knowing anything about the matter will please notify Chief of Police Montgomery, Bellefonte.

Penns Valley.

Rev. Illingsworth spent last Sunday in Millheim. This circuit regrets his retirement as by his courtly manners he has "won golden opinions from all sorts of people." On Saturday last he shipped his house hold goods to Warriors Mark his future charge. Rev. T. S. Faur succeeds him. The parsonage is located in Spring Mills.

J. K. Bitner is one of your staunch Republicans without any ifs or buts, and is always a welcomed visitor to any of our towns. Mr. Bitner seems to take the world, is always pleasant and has a good word for everybody, and of course every one is glad to see him in their town.

Dr. Braught, of Spring Mills, is evidently gaining quite a practice. He seems to be driving continually and visiting the sick. His patients have justly great confidence in him. Undoubtedly he is a physician of considerable skill and ability.

Dr. McGenen a very successful physician of Centre Hall, I am informed will move to Allegheny County, near Pittsburg, the coming month. Centre Hall loses a very highly esteemed citizen and the Presbyterian church an active and influential member.

Professor D. M. Wolfe, the highly educated gentleman and finished scholar, closed his winter school at Spring Mills last week. In April the professor will again commence a session of ten weeks.

If my information is correct W. R. From will still occupy the mill residence in Spring Mills, but on the 1st inst. he retired from the mill firm of Allison Bros. & Co. We are very glad that he remains in our valley. Good men are scarce and Mr. From is one of them.

C. P. Long will erect a fine brick residence in Spring Mills, in the meadow a short distance south of the railroad, and he may possibly erect several dwellings during the coming spring and summer. Mr, Long is one of our well known and enterprising business men of Penns Valley, and by the way is a republican candidate for county treasurer. We of the Valley are rather proud of him and admire his enterprising spirit. When he ever engaged in anything he seems to have the advancement and interests of Spring Mills more in view than any benefit he might derive himself.

J. F. Harter, of Millheim, made a flying trip to State College last week to visit Dr. W. S. Harter, who by the way, about a year ago was elected Justice of the Peace on the Republican ticket. The Dr. is quite a young man, very enterprising and ambitious, and evidently has a bright future before him. This young element is just what the republican party are proud of. The young republicans can always be relied on when real skill and solid work is required.

D. S. Sowers, located for several years on the fisher farm at Penn Hall, moved to Spring Mills on the 1st inst.

T. M. Gramley, president of the Spring Mills creamery, made a business trip to Bellefonte last week. Mr. Gramley is a very active Republican, and rather popular in Penns Valley.

"Princess Bonnie."

A large and appreciative audience greeted "Princess Bonnie" at Garman's Opera House on Wednesday evening. The general verdict was that it was the finest attraction that has ever visited Bellefonte. The singing and dancing were fine. The principals were unusually good and were well supported by a chorus of about thirty-five voices. The costumes and stage settings were exceedingly pretty. Miss Hilda Clarke as "Bonnie" and Miss Goldthwaite as "Kittie Clover" were the favorites of the evening and won much applause by their beautiful singing and splendid acting.

Arrested For Desertion.

Tobias Greene, an old soldier living at Milesburg, was arrested at Tyrone this morning and brought to Bellefonte and lodged in jail, charged by his wife with desertion. Greene is well known throughout Centre county. It is said he left his wife some time ago, during which time she has been living at Milesburg and he at Tyrone, Altoona and other cities.

HIGH SCHOOL RHETORICALS.

An Interesting Program Presented By Public School Students.

A long list of interesting subjects comprised the program as presented by the students of the Bellefonte High School at their weekly society on Monday afternoon. The exercises were successful in every particular, and the interest manifested by each participant and auditor showed that their whole heart was in their work. High Water.

Owing to the hard rain early Sunday morning the snow on the mountains melted very rapidly causing the creeks to rise at a very alarming rate. The banks of the streams were lined all day with people who were making all sorts of conjectors as to just how high the water would rise and in each one's mind he alone was right. Quite a good bit of drift was carried down with the current but considerable of it was gathered in by the boys with long hook poles. It is an ill wind that doesen't blowsomebody some good and to-day several families are well supplied with kindling wood.

Why He is Happy.

While there may be many men in Bellefonte who are in an exceedingly good humor, there is not one who is half so happy as Mr. J. W. Ott has been ever since this morning. The reason for this is because a ten pound boy was presented to him by his wife and Joe thinks he is the he is the funniest little fellow in the world. Congratulations.

The Evangelical Social.

The members of the Evangelical church held a sociable on Friday evening at the church which was a very successful affair in every particular. Oysters, ice cream, cake. and ect. were served in abundance and every body was waited on promptly. The proceeds were for the benefit of the church which makes the occasion all the more creditable.

Was Buried on Sunday.

The funeral of the little one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Green who died of heart trouble. Thursday evening was held at 3 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Interment was made at the Union cemetary. Rev. H. A. Grant had charge of the services.

Gone to Atlantic City.

Dr. and Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes of this place departed to-day for a two weeks visit to Atlantic City. Dr. Hayes has just recovered from quite a siege of sickness and his trip to the Sea Shore is in order to get a good rest before commencing his active practicing again. Mrs. Hayes who has been very ill for some time is now, we are glad to say, almost well. We hope the Dr's. trip will prove very beneficial to him.

Bought a Fine Property.

T. H. Harter, editor of the Keystone Gazette of this place has purchased the Dart property at present occupied by Dr. M. J. Locke. Editor Harter will not however take posession until Oct 1st. The properties occupied by Supt. F. H. Thomas also belonging to the Dart estate were bought by Mr. Thad Hamilton.

Buried at Centre Hall.

The funeral of the late James C. McClenahan of Centre Hall was held this morning. A number of G. A. R. Post 95 of this place attended the funeral as the deceased was an old soldier.

A DANGEROUS HABIT.

Young Boys Had Better Cease Throwing Stones onto Water Street.

For some time several young boys have been making it a habit to congregate on the hill back of the Presbyterian church and throw stones down onto Water street. Many complaints have been received from residents of the street and we have been requested by the Burgess to warn these boys to stop doing this at once. Persons who live along Water street are in constant danger of injury and probable loss of life. An example of this was shown several years ago when a little child lost its life by being hit with a stone started from the top of the hill. These little fellows who have been throwing stones at this place of course mean no harm but they should think farther than they really do. Parents should take this matter in hand and warn their children against doing so. If it is not stopped at once several arrests will be made and the offenders will be punished to the full extent of the law.
